Usability Testing Tasks for a Photography Blog

Task 1:

A friend who also uses this blog told you they loved the photograph of the week for November 4, 2011. Please find this photograph. When you have completed this task, please say "done."

Task 2:

You know that this blog provides photography tips and you recently took a picture in low light that did not turn out very well. See if you can find a photography tip on the blog that will help you take better low light pictures.

Task 3:

You have decided to purchase a photograph to display in your office. Please find a photograph you like to purchase. When you have completed this task, please say "done."

Task 4:

Find a photograph on the site that you like. Using the provided credit card information purchase and download this photograph to the provided USB drive. When you have completed this task, please say "done."

Task 5:

Since you visit this blog regularly, you have decided you would like to subscribe. So, please subscribe to the blog. When you have completed this task, please say "done."